Six Elected to Who's Who

Six seniors have been elected to represent Trevecca Nazarene College in the 1963-64 volume of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Nominations were made by the student body through a preferential poll and were approved by the faculty Administrative Committee. Nominees were Jerry Appleby, Edna Armstrong, Marilyn Baldwin, Barbara Beckner, Phyllis Buss, John Chilton, Michael Golden, Patricia Hall, Don Irwin, Carol Johnson, Ray Kohser, and Jerry McCant.

Qualifications that were considered by the Administrative Committee before approving the nominees included scholarship, leadership, attitudes, positive Christian influence, and activities of the student's entire college career.

Electees are: Jerry Appleby, Marilyn Baldwin, Phyllis Buss, John Chilton, Michael Golden, and Don Irwin. A biographical sketch of each of the electees is given below.

Jerry Appleby, president of the Associated Students, is from East St. Louis, Illinois. He is a religion major and mathematics minor. Future plans are to go to seminary and then to a pastorate.

While at Trevecca, Jerry has been a member of the A Cappella Choir, the Math Club, and the Music Club. He has also been president of the Ramblers Club, captain of the Delta softball team, and an active member of the CWA. He was freshman and sophomore representative to the Student Council as well as serving as Student Council secretary his junior year.

In high school, Jerry was a member of the National Honor Society and also participated in the American Legion Oratorical Contest. Other high school activities include being student council representative and president of the Debate Club and Hi-Y Club.

Marilyn Baldwin, a math major and a biology minor, is from Louisville, Kentucky.

Before graduating from Du Pont Manual High School, she was a member of the Honor Society, the Good News Club, the UN Club, and the Mixed Choir. During high school Marilyn received the DAR Citizenship Award, the Math Award, and the Music Award.

At Trevecca she has served as both assistant editor and editor of Trev-Echoes. During her junior year she was a member of the student council and was chairman of the Social-Cultural Committee. This year Marilyn is chairman of the Program Committee for the Senior Class and is a member of the Seminar Committee.

She is a member of the Math Club and served as president of that club during her sophomore year. An Honor Society member, Marilyn has received a class scholarship every year she has attended Trevecca.

Marilyn is currently student teaching 11th and 12th grade mathematics at Madison High School and plans to enter the George Peabody College for Teachers in March to work on a Masters Degree in Mathematics. She plans to teach math on the secondary or college level after obtaining her M.A.

Belle Glade, Florida, is the home of Phyllis Buss. Phyllis is an English major and education-psychology minor and plans to teach high school English after graduation.

In high school she received an English award and was chosen "Best All-round." Valedictorian of her class in high school, she has received four class scholarships while at Trevecca.

Having served for two years on the Darda staff and having been editor of her high school yearbook, Phyllis was elected last spring to the office of Darda editor.

Baritone Soloist Presents Concert

The "Singer of the Year" of the National Association of Teachers of Singing will give a concert at Trevecca, Saturday evening, October 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Alumni Auditorium. Robert W. Hale won this title at the NATS Convention in Los Angeles last December. The Student Council will present this well known Nazarene Baritone, who is also the president of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, which has over 2,000 members.

Mr. Hale studied at Bethany Nazarene College and Oklahoma University, and was formerly on the Bethany faculty and minister of music at Bethany First Church. He is presently teaching at Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston, Mass.

Mr. Hale has won appearances with the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra and has appeared in numerous operatic and oratorio performances in the Southwest.

We are honored to have this noted artist to sing for us. He will be singing at A and I State University on Sunday afternoon.

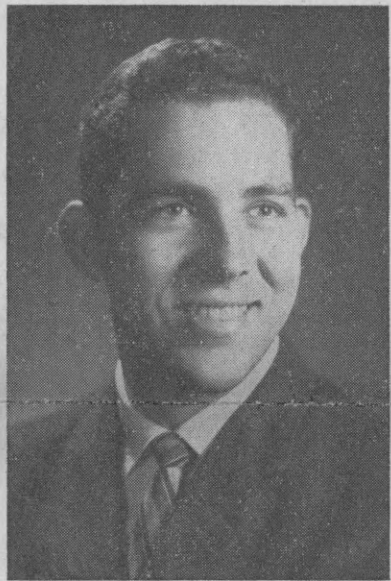

Max Lyall, recently appointed assistant editor in the Music Department of the Baptist Sunday School Board, will be his accompanist. The public is invited.

Nazarenes Give Gospels

The climax to a quadrennium of evangelistic emphasis for Nazarenes will come November 7-17, when in a church-wide program more than two million marked (underscored) copies of the Gospel of John will be distributed by members. Individual churches and districts have adopted quotas.

This will be one of the most ambitious undertakings in the history of the denomination. With about 350,000 active members, the church will be endeavoring to reach six times its number. The students of Trevecca are supporting this drive with a goal of 10,000 copies to be distributed in the Nashville area. This will be in addition to the goals of the individual churches in this area.

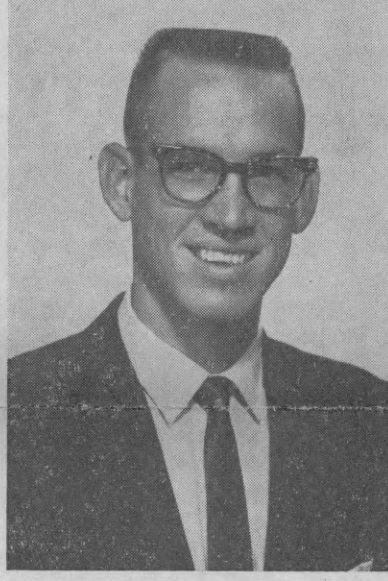

Distribution by the students will be under the supervision of Jan Osborne and Leslie Bearden.

First Seminar—'Standing Room Only'

The world population crisis was presented by Dr. Homer J. Adams to the first student-faculty seminar on October 8. Dr. Adams referred to Malthus' prediction that by now we would have outrun our means of subsistence. Today there are as many people alive as have ever lived and, at the present rate, the population will have doubled by 2000 and two of every three people will be Chinese.

The seminar was attended by about 30 students who participated in a follow-up discussion of the population crisis. Some suggested solutions were: Birth control, increase in food supply, and shift of population.

Students are urged to attend the seminars which are held every two weeks and also to make preparation. Some ways you may prepare for the seminars are:

1. Use reference material set aside on reserve list by the speaker.
2. Check the reader's guide for periodicals pertaining to the chosen subject.
3. Read several reviews of a book that is being discussed.
4. Check the editorial page for information on timely subjects.
5. Tap radio and television programs as a resource for knowledge on the subject.

TREVECCA HOSTS MUSIC INSTITUTE

From October 30 through November 1, Trevecca will be the sight of a Nazarene Church Music Institute. Everyone, especially pastors, singers, song writers, instrumentalists, directors, and persons desiring to enter the music ministry, is invited to attend.

This Institute is especially designed with the needs and problems of the local church in mind. It involves the various phases of church music, with emphasis on skill in musical performance and inspirational and devotional aspects of the music of the church. The program is presented especially for those persons who have had no training in directing or applied music and to those who are trained and experienced but who desire a refresher course.

Registration is scheduled for Wednesday, October 30, at 10:05 a.m. The registration fee is $5 per person.

A "Music Mart," composed of music for all occasions, will be featured on display throughout the Institute.

The Institute will climax in a Sacred Music Festival on Friday night, November 1. A chorus-choir and orchestra composed of Institute members will be featured. An evangelistic theme will be emphasized at the Festival.

Dr. Hugh C. Benner will be the principal speaker of the Institute. Other staff members include: Dr. Roy Stevens, Dr. Leslie Parrott, Rev.

KΣΦ SPONSORS PROJECTS

The Kappa Sigma Phi Society, under the leadership of Jean Cranshaw, president and Mrs. K. W. Phillips, sponsor, have already completed five projects.

Parking signs have been placed in the areas reserved for the faculty and staff to help remedy the parking situation. Students have been requested to park their cars in the areas designated for student parking.

To assist professors and students in the music department, the lines of a music staff have been painted on the chalkboard. These lines are permanent and will add considerably to the effectiveness of the music department.

Projects now in progress include assisting in the redecoration of Dr. A. B. Mackey's office and the furnishing of draperies for the library.

Other officers that aided in these projects are: Lynn Barnes, vice president; Margie Smith, secretary; Joyce Bain, treasurer; Jane Cranshaw, reporter and Ruth Ellen May, librarian.

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. II Timothy 2:15

Love God with your Mind

As you look to the four years ahead of you in college, begin with a quest not only for the best that has been thought and written, but with a sense of your privilege and responsibility to consolidate your academic knowledge into your life as a Christian student.

When Jesus commanded man to love God, He instructed him to love the Lord with his mind, as well as with his heart, soul and strength. As a Christian student, in accordance with the intellectual gifts and the opportunities He has given you, you are called to love God with your mind.

You will find that the walk of faith and obedience in studying is rewarding. You will sense the deep satisfaction of knowing that you are pleasing your Heavenly Father by using wisely the sound mind He has given you.

As you study you will become aware of a building process taking place to prepare you for whatever vocation will make you happy and useful in God's plan. And what you have learned through your studying will influence the quality of your life after graduation.

You are called to live creatively and dynamically with a personal Lord who is to be the determiner of your decisions, the well-spring of your actions.

Studying is indeed a high calling, when Jesus Christ shares it with you.

Laborers For Christ

"And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; there stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over into Macedonia and help us."

We may think of the Macedonian as a present day laborer, a laborer with lines of sorrow and suffering and fatigue in his face, bent and broken from years of pain and heartache, a laborer longing to know the Creator of all, the Saviour of man. He is not to be cast aside, ignored, forgotten, for he has an immortal soul, and he needs the food that does not perish—God's word. God wills that in the likeness of Jesus Christ man should live humbly and go through life, not reaching after lofty aims, but adapting himself to holiness and Christlike living, learning from the gospel to be meek and simple of heart so that on the chosen day he may enter the heavenly kingdom and find peace.

Christ has instructed you and me to go forth and teach the laborer of the Christ who has provided for many a way of full and free salvation.

We have been appointed by Christ. Are we ready to accept our share of the burden and go forth to tell the world of the wonderful PEACE that Jesus gives?

Have You Ever ??

How many times have you left the library disgusted? Frustrated at your own inabilities? But wait now, let's analyze our evening. We came to the library at the beginning of study hours all ready for a hard evening with the books. "Oh boy, there's a table right by the door so I can see everything that goes on." By the time you get all settled and ready to study you need a drink of water, upstairs of course, just in case you missed anyone. Meanwhile friends have joined you at your table and are gleefully awaiting your return to fill you in on all the latest "Campus Life". By the time you have finished your visit it's nearly 9 o'clock and time for your nightly tour of the T-Room. But wait, you haven't even begun your school work, and that means a light check again tonight. "Oh well, there's always tomorrow night, and I'll really study then."

How often have you found yourself in this rut? Yes, it is a rut, a very dangerous one, for we are making grades and setting records that will follow us throughout the remainder of our lives. How important it is that we, the students today, come to grips with our situations and remember to keep first things first and "to study to show ourselves approved!"

NEWS IN REVIEW

Washington . . . . If Khrushchev wants to buy US grain, it is all right with most farmers in the wheat belt. One reason for this is that for the first time in twenty-five years American wheat farmers face the prospect of being thrown to the mercy of the free market. A sale to Russia would ease the pain that could result.

Talk of the wheat trade began to snowball in early October. When the idea was first presented in Washington, it received a relatively small amount of the opposition that such talks have started in the past. Later there was rising objection to the trade from some Congressmen, but even among those there was talk of taking a new look at the question of trading with communistic countries.

Many businessmen favor the wheat deal as a first step in broadening East-West trade to include other US products.

Why is Russia—the world's biggest grain producer — suddenly forced to buy wheat from the West to feed its own people?

Premier Nikita Khrushchev blames "bad weather." Experts say the real reason is that the Premier has failed in his attempts to solve Russia's agricultural problem without abandoning communism on the farms. The communistic system of collectivized farming has never worked in any country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Through the able leadership and cooperation of Dr. Leon Chambers, sponsor, and Leslie Bearden, president, we of the Ministerial Association established a cherished "first" when we arrived in Kansas City, Missouri, on October 2 for a series of tours of our Theological Seminary, General Headquarters, and Publishing House. The Trevecca Association became the first group from any Nazarene College to make such a tour, and our General church afforded the group "red-carpet" service.

The first evening the Association was treated to a dinner given by the Seminary faculty and attended by many TNC graduates who are now in seminary. Dr. Lewis Corlett, the Seminary president, was in charge of the program, and Dr. Mendell Taylor, Dean of the Seminary, brought a very inspiring address on the subject "The Changing Scope of Seminary Education."

After the dinner, the group went to the Kansas City First Church for the mid-week prayer meeting. Following the prayer meeting, there was an informal gathering of the Trevecca graduates in Kansas City.

The following morning, each member had the privilege of attending a Seminary class of his choice. Later in the morning the complete group attended the daily chapel service in which Dr. Ralph Earle spoke.

Each area of the General Church wanted to participate in welcoming us and the noon meal was provided by the Publishing House. After the meal, a tour of the publishing operations was provided for the group.

Following this tour, the group toured the recently completed International Center of the church. While touring the Center and the General Headquarters next door, the Association was introduced to many of the leaders of our church.

We of the Association feel that we are better acquainted with the purpose and meaning of our church after having made this trip. Also we are proud to say, "we are Nazarenes."

—JESSE MIDDENDORF

Washington . . . . With the presidential election approaching, talk has centered around national politics and prospective nominees.

There is no doubt about who next summer's Democratic presidential nominee will be. And so the political league talk centers around the G.O.P. situation. Arizona's Senator Barry Goldwater has a lead for the nomination; there is strong evidence that he might give incumbent Democrat Kennedy a real run in the November election.

Goldwater: The Bandwagon

The Senator insists that he is still "just hopping around the country" raising funds for the party. But "Draft Goldwater" committees are organizing across the country, and should be established in every state by mid-October. Some states already have Goldwater groups down to the precinct level, waiting only until he formally announces his candidacy—probably in January—to move into high gear.

STUCO REPORTS

With the school year well under way, the Student Council is into its activities with much vitality. The biggest activity planned for this quarter is a concert to be presented Saturday evening, October 19, by Robert Hale, baritone soloist. Nationally known and respected, Mr. Hale has won a place in the world of music with his recent coveted awards. Our campus will be honored with many guests present to hear this outstanding concert. Plan your evening in this direction and you will surely have an experience to treasure.

Another major activity in the Student Council's schedule for this fall is the distribution of Gospels of John in many areas of the city. Our goal is to spread 10,000 copies into parts of the city which are most needy. Several churches are asking the assistance of students in helping the church's congregation cover the communities around them.

The recent decision of the Student Council concerning meeting times for classes seems to be in good working order. The first and third Tuesdays are set aside for class meetings while the second and fifth are used for T.A.A. meetings. The fourth Tuesday has been designated for prayer meetings. Your cooperation is required for even better success in this plan. Also, please be reminded that the Student Council wants your suggestions and ideas. Make use of the suggestion boxes often, so that you will be a real factor in helping the Student Council to realize your wishes.

CLASS NOTES

SOPHOMORE CLASS . . . "Well, well, well!"; "Was it Jack or was it Jill?"; "And the poor dog had none!" and "What's behind the vine?" These statements and questions were made by members of the Sophomore Class last Saturday evening in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

The main interest of the program was focused on an operette, "The Tragic Tale of A Grasshopper." Other entertainment included a number of recitations of various great writers of the past with their versions of "Jack and Jill." Sharon Adrian very dramatically brought a brief sermon involving the life of Old Mother Hubbard and her poor dog. The "Well" family presented a brief skit.

JUNIOR CLASS . . . The Junior Class has thrown its hat into the race for class of the year by launching over 300 students onto Tidwell green for the get acquainted social held in honor of the freshmen class.

Not wanting to be outdone, the class has donated its secretary to the Student Council, so nominations are underway to fill that gap.

And . . ., if you've noticed Casper hanging around the bulletin board, well, be WITCHING for the HALLOWEEN PARTY coming October 25.

Les Farthing says that junior dues are on the upward swing, so remember, "The Junior Class, the class with more in '64."

SENIOR CLASS . . . "You Don't Say" was presented Friday night, October 11, by the Senior Class. It is reported that they were honored by having Mr. Hemmerly and Miss McClain as guest stars.

The Senior Class will also be sponsoring a cookie sale each Monday night after study hours. So students, save those pennies to buy some fresh, homemade goodies from the seniors.

CWA REPORT

By Sara Casdorph

It is tragic to lose an opportunity, because once it is lost, it can never be recovered. We may lose a hat, pocketbook, or an umbrella and get it back, but not so with an opportunity. Once it has slipped through our fingers, it can never be regained. It is gone forever.

Jeremiah has a dramatic way of describing the tragedy of lost opportunities. "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved." (Jer. 8:20). The picture we see is that of a field of grain, through which the reapers have come. The harvest is over, and yet there are still some stalks of grain left. Soon the cattle will be turned into the field, and what is left will be eaten or trampled down. Compare this to the judgment and the destruction of those souls who have not been reaped for the harvest of the Lord.

Now is the time for us to think of lost opportunities in Christian service before they have slipped from us. Many times we are tempted to "sleep-in" Sunday mornings or afternoons, or to "put off" engaging in any phase of the CWA activities. By doing this we are robbing ourselves as well as those whom we could and should be serving. We will never know in this world how much a kind word, a gentle touch, or a tract given in Jesus' name will mean in the harvest of souls in which we are engaged. May we never know the consequence of failure in this important harvest.

Come, and be a reaper in the CWA.

Note from the Editor

We of the TREV-ECHOES staff have noticed an improvement of student participation in TAA this year. More team spirit is evidenced by the election of cheerleaders for the societies and by the purchase of the athletic jerseys. Next year Trevecca will have a full time athletic director.

Thank you leaders of the TAA for creating team spirit and thus fostering more schol spirit.

Watch this column closely for a look at the all-school project. It is in the finishing stage now and will be ready for unveiling soon. Only your cooperation and enthusiasm can make this the outstanding success it should be.

Campus Life

Erbin Baumgardner

He came running into the class, panting, gasping for breath, holding a big juicy green apple that looked like a tenement building for . . . , anyway it had a lot of holes in it. He had brought it especially for the prof because he was late again.

Prof. spoke, "Student, why are you bringing this big juicy green wormy apple to me, and where has thou plucked it from, and why art thou late?"

Reply. "I hath plucked it on my way to class as I walked merrily through the apple orchard, tripping gracefully over army surplus."

Reply to that: "I thought you were a day student and drove to school. What was thou doing in the apple orchard?????"

And that's what the column is about this time. The Folding Compact, Will Berry Inforce Wheel Tax? Wheels in the Orchard, or as Dr. Adams would say, "Standing Room Only" . . . anyway, where can I park my car???

Someone rushed up to me, "Where is that tax money going that was collected for parking fees?" Hetrick wanted to demonstrate but I assured him that a sit-in was not the answer. Truesdale threatened to write his Arizona Congressman, and Houseman said a whole lot, of which time or space does not permit me to print.

"I'm not sure what will be done with the funds," I told them. Someone said they were buying a bus with hot and cold running water that would make an hourly round of the campus from the parking lot carrying students to and fro. I believe it was suggested they build a nine story parking garage between McClurkan and Fine Arts, and Foxworthy applied for the job as parking attendant. Just a thought . . . , they may even pave and widen the present facilities . . .

— SNAP SHOTS —

Oh, that Biology department has done it again! Have you heard about Prof. Dix's experiments with mice? He has finally been successful in creating a new species in the mice family. He crossed a city mouse with a country mouse and ended up with a . . . suburban mouse.

I didn't know until the other day that Jim Knight came to college on a Dr. Scholes athletic scholarship . . . John Sugg has deep psychological problems . . . Dennis Orner, Barney, Johnson, Burkheimer, Minnix, Mills, and the old gang in 2D have a lounge in the dorm . . . all the comforts of home . . . ah, a longing for the old dorm life . . .

Jerry Huff is a poet and I doubt if you knew it . . .

One night as I lay in my room, I heard a strange sound in the gloom.

As I rolled from my side to my back, I asked Dave down below, "Is it Jack?" At first I was frightened to death, then a whisper came from Tom's breath. I could hardly understand over his cries, but I thought he said, "I'm scared, you guys."

Then a tall figure stood firm at the door, and I thought I heard Jim hit the floor.

I had a feeling he knew we were awake because he said, "Is that you laughing, Lake?"

Well finally the guy turned on the light, and by then we were all in a fright.

How happy we were you can guess, for it was just our ole nightwatchman, Les.

"Lend me your ears . . . we came to bury erbin's column!!!!!"

Mr. Bowes Visits Campus

Rev. Alpin P. Bowes of the Department of Home Missions will be visiting Trevecca November 21-22. Smee, department secretary.

Mr. Bowes will bring slides of Churches of the Nazarene selected from all over the world and will be speaking in chapel on these two days.

Mr. Bowes is a graduate of Pasadena College, Pasadena, California, and took graduate work at the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, California, and the Nazarene Theological Seminary, Kansas City, Mo.

He has addressed many ministers' meetings on church architecture and building and has contributed numerous articles to denominational publications. He compiled and edited a book on personal evangelism entitled, "He That Winneth Souls," and a book on home missions work called, "Enlarge Thy Borders."

Mr. and Mrs. Bowes and family reside in Kansas City, Mo.

Coat Capers

by JOYCE BAIN

These cooler autumn days and shivering cold fall nights have no doubt brought to the minds of everyone the question of winter coats. Some industrious, cold-blooded persons have perhaps already shaken the moth balls out of last winter's coats. For those fortunate few who may be contemplating the purchase of a new coat, here are a few hints.

The smartest look in coats for the ladies this season is the Chesterfield. This is a very versatile coat, having several styles to suit the occasion. For casual wear, the simple Chesterfield is very appropriate. The modified Chesterfield will be in demand for dress. The raccoon-trimmed coats that were so tremendously successful last winter will make a comeback this year.

Another favorite will be A-line coats. These simple, tapered lines promote the chic look for this season, and tones tend to help create the subdued, fashionable impression.

Blazers with emblems are "in" for this season. Newcomers on the fashions scene this year are shirts, sweaters, and blazers with patches on the elbows, helping to create some diversity.

These and other styles in coats will be seen on college campuses this year.

Who's Who (con't)

Phyllis is a member of the Honor Society and SEA.

"Future teacher" is one way to describe John Chilton. He is currently doing his practice teaching at Madison High School and plans to teach in high school or college after graduation.

John was a member of the Rifle Team at Decatur Boys High School in his home town, Decatur, Georgia.

Since coming to Trevecca, he has been treasurer of the CWA, vice president of the Junior Class, and Student Council representative for the Senior Class. He also was president of the Clio Society last year. Currently John is serving as treasurer of the Student Council.

Michael S. Golden, from Shawmut, Alabama, attended Valley High School in Fairfax, Alabama, where he was a member of the Science Club. A finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Contest, he won a forestry scholarship to Auburn University, but, feeling God's call to the ministry, turned it down to come to Trevecca. He then received a Civic Club scholarship from his home community for his freshman year at the college of his choice.

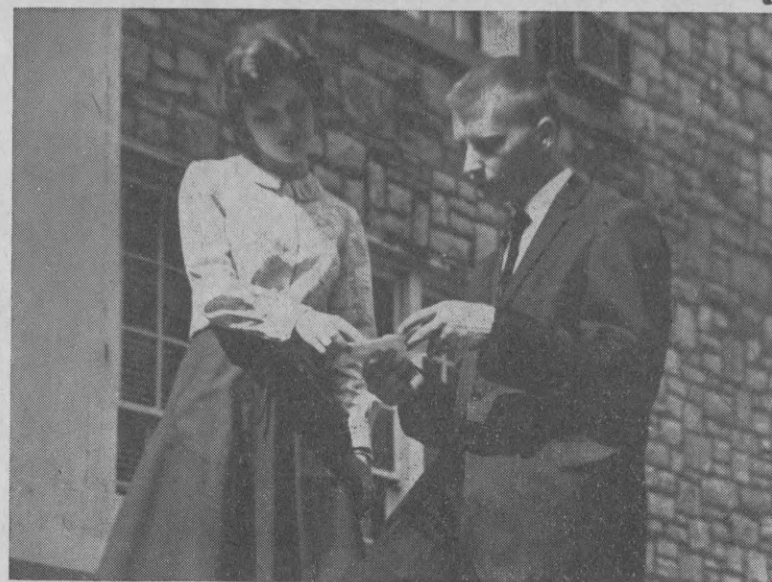

Mike has been a member of the Ministerial Association all four years, an active Christian worker (serving as captain of the city jail work), president of his Sophomore Class, president of the Alabama Club, and a member of the Honor Society for four years. He was awarded a Senior Class Scholarship. This quarter he is assistant pastor of McClurkan Memorial Church of the Nazarene.

Michael, who is married to a Trevecca graduate, the former Mary Jane Still, resides at 57½ Paris Avenue. A former Eagle Scout and Explorer Scout, he enjoys hunting and fishing. A future pastor, he plans a B.D. degree and possibly graduate work toward a Ph.D. degree.

Another math major elected to Who's Who is Don Irwin. From Clearwater, Florida, Don was a member of the Mixed Choir at Clearwater High School.

Since coming to Trevecca, he has participated in the Science Club, the SEA, TAA, and the Math Club. He was the junior representative to the Student Council last year as well as chairman of the "All School Proj-

Thrasher Elected Secretary

Jeanne Thrasher, newly elected Student Council Secretary, talks over an item of business with Jerry Appleby, President.

Last week, Jeanne Thrasher was elected as Student Council Secretary after the resignation of Winona (Flatt) Humston. Mrs. Humston was elected in the spring election but felt she must resign because of other obligations.

Jeanne, a junior, hails from New Albany, Indiana. While in high school, she was active in dramatics and served as secretary of the local National Thespian's Chapter. She was also secretary of the Sunshine Society and was a member of the District Young People's Council.

At Trevecca she has been active in many of the projects of the classes and clubs. Jeanne was elected secretary of the Junior class this year but resigned this office after being elected secretary of the Student Council.

Jeanne says, "I am pleased and, most of all, highly honored to have been elected secretary of the Associated Student Body of TNC."

T. N. C. NEARS GOAL

Trevecca is nearing its goal of being accredited by the Southern Association. To reach this goal, cooperation and determination to move toward the goal are necessary.

The Southern Association has recently changed its requirements for admission to be more subjective than they were formerly. The Association is taking a closer look at the student and faculty morale and the liberal arts work. The committee that was here several days ago advised that we study and improve ourselves. They also pointed out several departments that need to be strengthened. We will receive a more official report with more pointed suggestions later in the year.

The Alumni Association is eager to work with the Administration on building a gymnasium. There is a possibility that some courses in physical education will be offered soon. This should be one more step toward accreditation.

The visiting committee highly praised the faculty and the student morale, the library, and the great amount of progress that Trevecca has made in the last ten years.

Even though our college has not yet been accredited by the Southern Association, it is accredited as a teacher training institution, and its credits are recognized by the state of Tennessee. Those who graduate from Trevecca may teach in almost any state in the Union. Also, graduate schools accept the credits of Trevecca, and students from TNC usually make high grades in graduate schools. This points out the high type of training that Trevecca gives.

Trevecca is "on the way" to getting this accreditation. The fulfillment of this goal is in the near future. Dr. Wm. Greathouse and Dr. Homer J. Adams plan to attend the Southern Association meeting in Memphis, December 2-4. Much is being done to get our school accredited by the Southern Association.

TMF Report

In the Banquet room of the cafeteria, on October 3, the first meeting of the Trevecca Missionary Fellowship was held. Officers were elected as follows: Paul Hetrick, president; Jack Clayton, vice-president; Natalie Clayton, secretary; Phil Neeley, treasurer. By unanimous vote Professor Phillips was chosen again as sponsor.

Following the election, Miss Frances Vine, a returned missionary from the Philippines and currently a student at Trevecca, brought an inspiring talk on missionary work. A bit of humor stimulated the listeners as she told of her responsibilities as gardener of the Bible school grounds, veterinarian to the watch dogs, and accordion teacher with little previous musical training. Throughout her talk Miss Vine encouraged those preparing for missionary work to be prepared to serve.

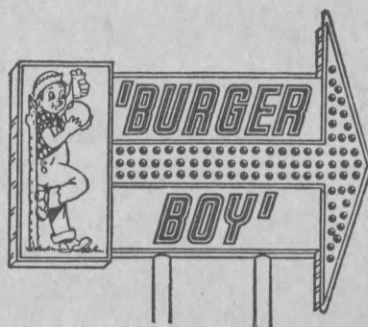

ect." He is currently president of the Senior Class.

Don, who is married to the former Rena Huggins, plans to work on a Master's Degree in mathematics at Peabody College after graduation.

David Bays of the Alphas and Jim Knight of the Betas have been selected as this issue's outstanding players.

In each issue of TREV-ECHOES, an outstanding back and lineman will be chosen by the TREV-ECHOES sports staff and the captain and co-captain from each of the three teams.

The outstanding players for this issue of TREV-ECHOES are David Bays and Jim Knight. Bays was selected as outstanding "back" and Knight was named outstanding "lineman".

Bays, a freshman, plays left half-back for the Alphas. David also does all the kicking, and is an excellent defensive safety. He has a total of 22 points for the season.

Knight, a sophomore, is the Betas' offensive and defensive right end as well as a team leader and the favorite target of quarter-backs, Gene Cook and Eddie Patterson. Jim has scored 12 points, all on pass receptions.

Strickland Named Athletic Director

Announcement has been made by Trevecca College President, Dr. Greathouse, that William Strickland has agreed to serve as athletic director and physical education instructor. Strickland will assume his duties on June 1, 1964.

Currently Mr. Strickland is serving as a member of the TNC faculty and as the pastor of Benson Memorial Church of the Nazarene in Nashville. He is completing work at Vanderbilt University on his Ph.D. in Church History.

A star basketball player at Nashville East High School, Strickland made the All-City team. He went to Middle Tennessee State College on an athletic scholarship, and began to prepare to be a coach. He later transferred to Trevecca, where he took up a religion major.

Beginning next year, he will serve as a full-time faculty member. Several physical education courses will be taught, although a definite schedule has not been set.

TAA Reports

by EUGENIA CLOUD

The spirit of the TAA is really soaring high this year due to the newly organized cheerleaders of the different societies. Signs, shakers, and cow bells have helped to rouse school spirit. Tin cans have also been used as noise-makers.

The cheerleaders' uniforms have caused much enthusiasm. The Beta's dressed in red corduroy box pleated skirts and red vests, help cheer their team on to victory. White long sleeve blouses are to be worn under the vests. For cold weather the Betas will be wearing white pull-over sweaters and red corduroy skirts. Letters have been ordered for the cheerleaders to wear.

Giving support to their team at every game, you will find the Delta cheerleaders wearing outfits of blue and gold. They will be wearing gold blouses with navy blue sweaters and skirts. Gold letters are to be worn on the front of the sweaters.

Black skirts and white pullover sweaters with black letters on the front describe the Alpha cheerleaders. You always find them at the games pulling for their team.

All the societies' cheerleaders are really on the ball. They want to see their teams win.

The head cheerleaders are: Bev Moore—Alphas, Carol Richardson—Betas, and Glenda Harper—Deltas.

Participation has been excellent in the TAA this year. All three teams have been represented by ten or more players for each game. Most games have been exciting and close. Spectator enthusiasm has been at its highest point in two or more years. Considerably large groups continue to make their way to the athletic field. Signs are patched all over campus. Cheerleaders lead chants. Even some professors have managed to take in some games.

All this enthusiasm has helped make competition keener. It has brought about better games at TNC. Students' enthusiasm has helped our athletes to take pride in the game they are playing. It draws the best out of a person. Let's keep the excitement, for we will advance with such backing.

Team captains deserve much credit for the successes of their teams. Wayne Dollar, a junior, is serving his second year as Captain of the Deltas. Last year he was elected as an All-Star, and he is presently one of the league's top scorers.

Eddie Patterson of the Betas is the spearhead of the Beta squad. His size and ruggedness have made him tough competition on the line. Last year he was selected as lineman of the year.

Co-captains for the Alphas are Ray Byrd and Lester Byington. Byrd, last year's leading scorer with 128 points, has been a top notch runner and scorer again. Byington, All-Star in two previous years, is enjoying one of his best seasons. He holds down the end spot on offense and plays middle linebacker at defense.

Every year there are those who gripe about the "poor refereeing" at TNC games. While purchasing equipment at a sporting good store, I ran across this poem. The author is unknown, but it has a lesson which some of us should grasp:

I think that I shall never see a satisfactory referee,
Above whose head a halo shines, whose merit rates reporter's lines:
One who calls them as they are, and not as I would ask, by far;
A gent who leans not either way, but lets the rules decide the play;
A guy who'll sting the coach who yaps, from Siwash High or Ole Milsaps
Poems are made by fools like me, but only God could referee.

Some basketball games are being scheduled for Friday or Saturday nights, depending upon the schedule at First Church.

The old-timers will pit their skills against this year's All-Stars on Saturday, October 23. Some of last year's stars that are expected include Jim Stocks, Red Sebring, and Terrin Haddix.
